

Contents

Acknowledgments

Prologue

Introduction

Professional Street Skateboarding

Subculture and Self-Preservation

Skateboarding and Urban Space

Overview

Part I. Immersion

1. Skateboarding and the City

A Quick History of Skateboarding

Ollie, Nollie, Regular, Goofy: Trick Basics

Public Plazas: Filling the Voids

The “LA School” of Urban Sociology

Skateboarding Subculture

2. Skate Spots

Scanning the Terrain

The Ethos of Progression

Excavating the City: Historic Skate Spots

Skate and Appreciate

3. Skateboarding Basics: The Grammar of Skateboarding Tricks

Name the Trick: Stoner Plaza

Learning to Skateboard: Aaron Snyder

Troy Story

Old Man Skateboarding

Part II. The Professional World

4. Professional Street Skateboarding

The Skate Plaza at Stoner Park

Career Stoners

June 9th, 2015

Shorty's and Darkstar: Aaron Snyder

Behind the Scenes at Street League Skateboarding

Street League Re-Visited: October 2, 2016

Skateboarding and the Subculture Career

The Street Not Taken: Robbie McKinley

5. The Production of Skateboarding Tricks

The Skater

The Photographer

The Filmer

RB Umali: The Filmer's Toolkit

The Skateboard Team

6. Skateboarding as a Career

The City and the Subculture Career
Subcultural Enclaves
The Model of Subculture Profitability
The Ethnographic Imagination
Subculture Media and the Digital Turn
The Vulnerable Careerists

Part III. Skate Spots

7. Skateboarding and Architecture

Skaters' Response to Defensive Design
Resisting Arrest
DIY Urban Design
DIY Skate Spots
DIY Skate Spots: From the Ground Up

8. Landmark Achievements: The Creation of Subcultural Landmarks

Urban Public Space
Spot Progression
Profitable Spots
Defensible Space

Part IV. Resistance

9. Skateboard Activism

“The Courthouse”: A History

Legalized Skateboarding: Day 1

Courthouse 2.0, Day 2

Go Skateboarding Day 2015

10. Matt Gottwig: Circle Complete

Coda

Appendix: Interview with Alec Beck Transworld Magazine

Glossary

Notes

References

About the Author