

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Imaging Punishment: An Introduction Charles J. Ogletree, Jr., and Austin Sarat	1
PART I. THE POPULARITY OF PUNISHMENT
1. Redeeming the Lost War: Backlash Films and the Rise of the Punitive State Lary May	23
2. Better Here than There: Prison Narratives in Reality Television Aurora Wallace	55
PART II. POPULAR CULTURE'S CRITIQUE OF PUNISHMENT
3. The Spectacle of Punishment and the "Melodramatic Imagination" in the Classical-Era Prison Film: I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang (1932) and Brute Force (1947) Kristen Whissel	79
4. "Deserve Ain't Got Nothing to Do with It": The Deconstruction of Moral Justifications for Punishment through The Wire Kristin Henning	117
5. Rehabilitating Violence: White Masculinity and Harsh Punishment in 1990s Popular Culture Daniel LaChance	161
PART III. THE RECEPTION AND IMPACT OF PUNISHMENT IN POPULAR CULTURE
6. Scenes of Execution: Spectatorship, Political Responsibility, and State Killing in American Film Austin Sarat, Madeline Chan, Maia Cole, Melissa Lang, Nicholas Schcolnik, Jasjaap Sidhu, and Nica Siegel	199

7. The Pleasures of Punishment: Complicity, Spectatorship, and Abu Ghraib	236
Amy Adler
8. Images of Injustice	257
Brandon L. Garrett
About the Contributors	287
Index	289